

Incels & Hex's Guide to Slaying Hella Poon

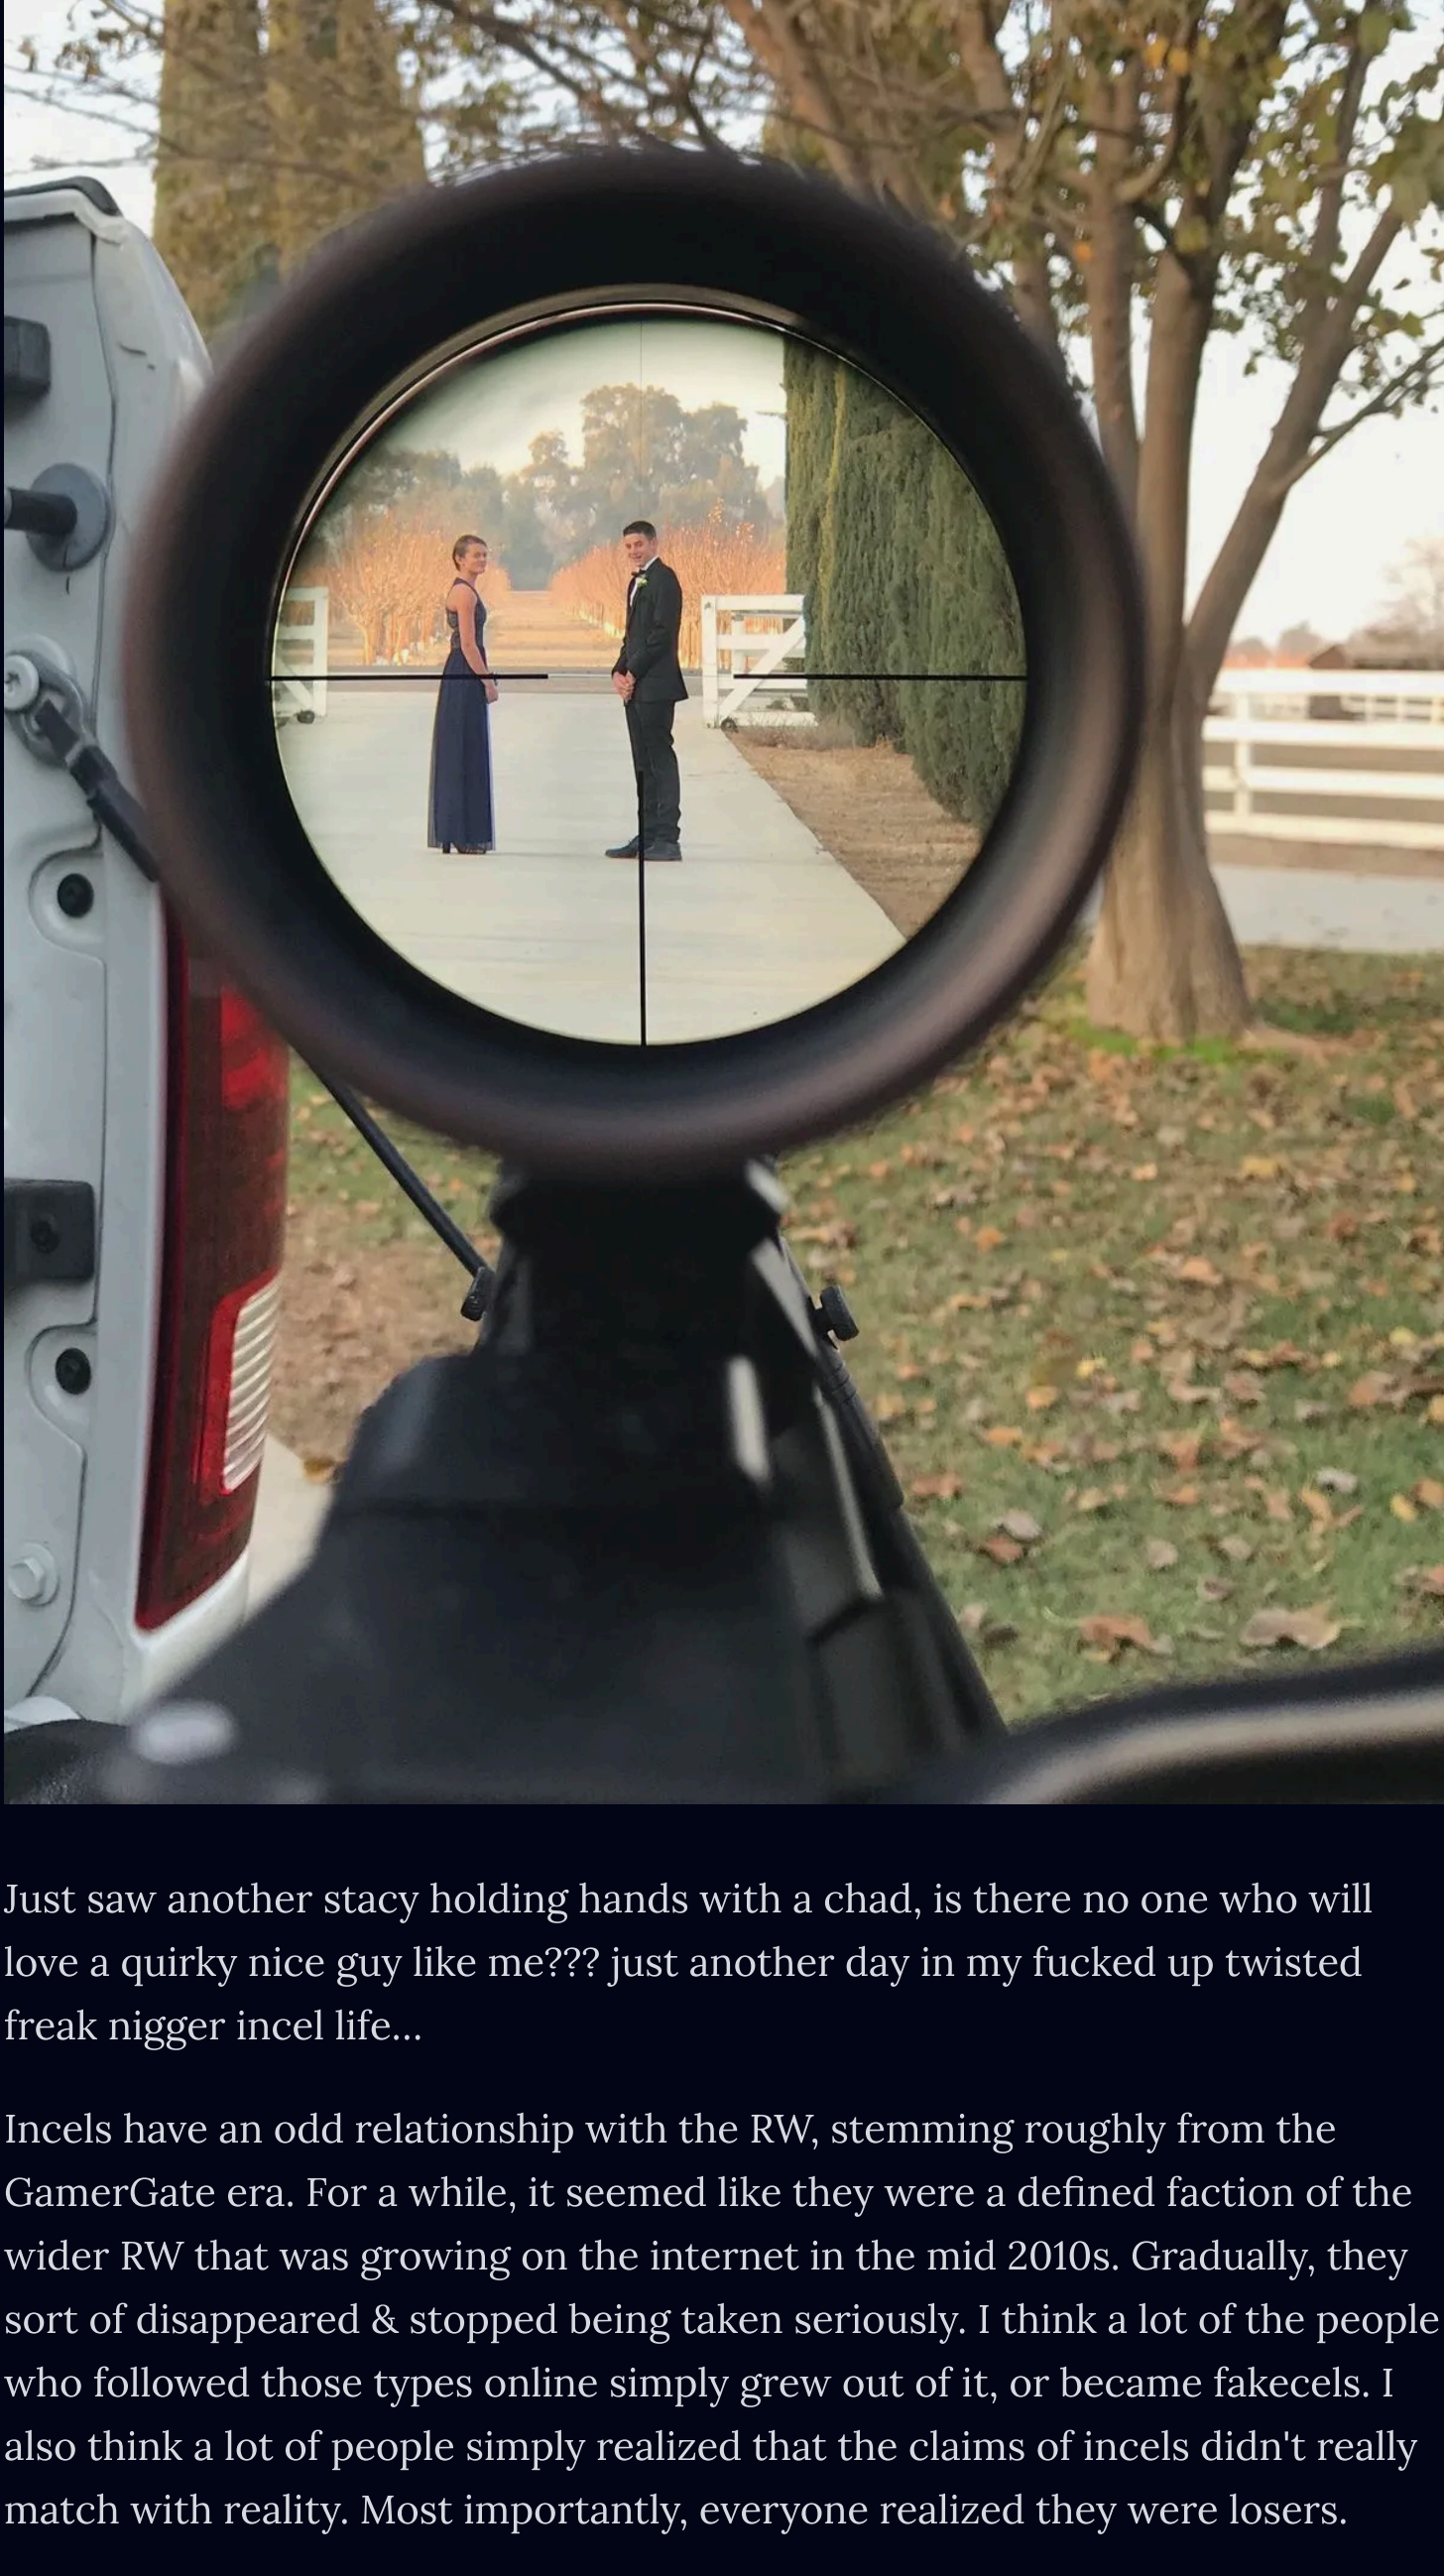

DER ENZIGER
OCT 14, 2024

♡ 94

🗨 57

🗨 10

Share

Just saw another stacy holding hands with a chad, is there no one who will love a quirky nice guy like me??? just another day in my fucked up twisted freak nigger incel life...

Incels have an odd relationship with the RW, stemming roughly from the GamerGate era. For a while, it seemed like they were a defined faction of the wider RW that was growing on the internet in the mid 2010s. Gradually, they sort of disappeared & stopped being taken seriously. I think a lot of the people who followed those types online simply grew out of it, or became fakecels. I also think a lot of people simply realized that the claims of incels didn't really match with reality. Most importantly, everyone realized they were losers.

I got sort of lucky, I lost my virginity relatively early during my middle school years so I couldn't really fall into the incel trap. I also have an over abundance of close female relatives (sisters, cousins) so I've always had a good idea of what the femoid mind is like. I actually think a major part of the problem with gender relations today is because people are having less kids, and thus many people are growing up without siblings of the opposite sex - leading to them not understanding the inherent differences between men & women. This leads to people expecting men out of women & vice versa. Just a theory though.

Regardless, I could never really get into the incel mindset. The claims that women only sleep with 67 millionaires built like Christian Bale sort of fell on deaf ears considering I was a scrawny stoner at the time & had no issue with girls. The trend of lefties calling everyone under the sun incels (as they moved away from calling everyone "literally Hitler") made this more confusing. Eventually, it made sense once I started seeing what most of the incel posters actually looked like.

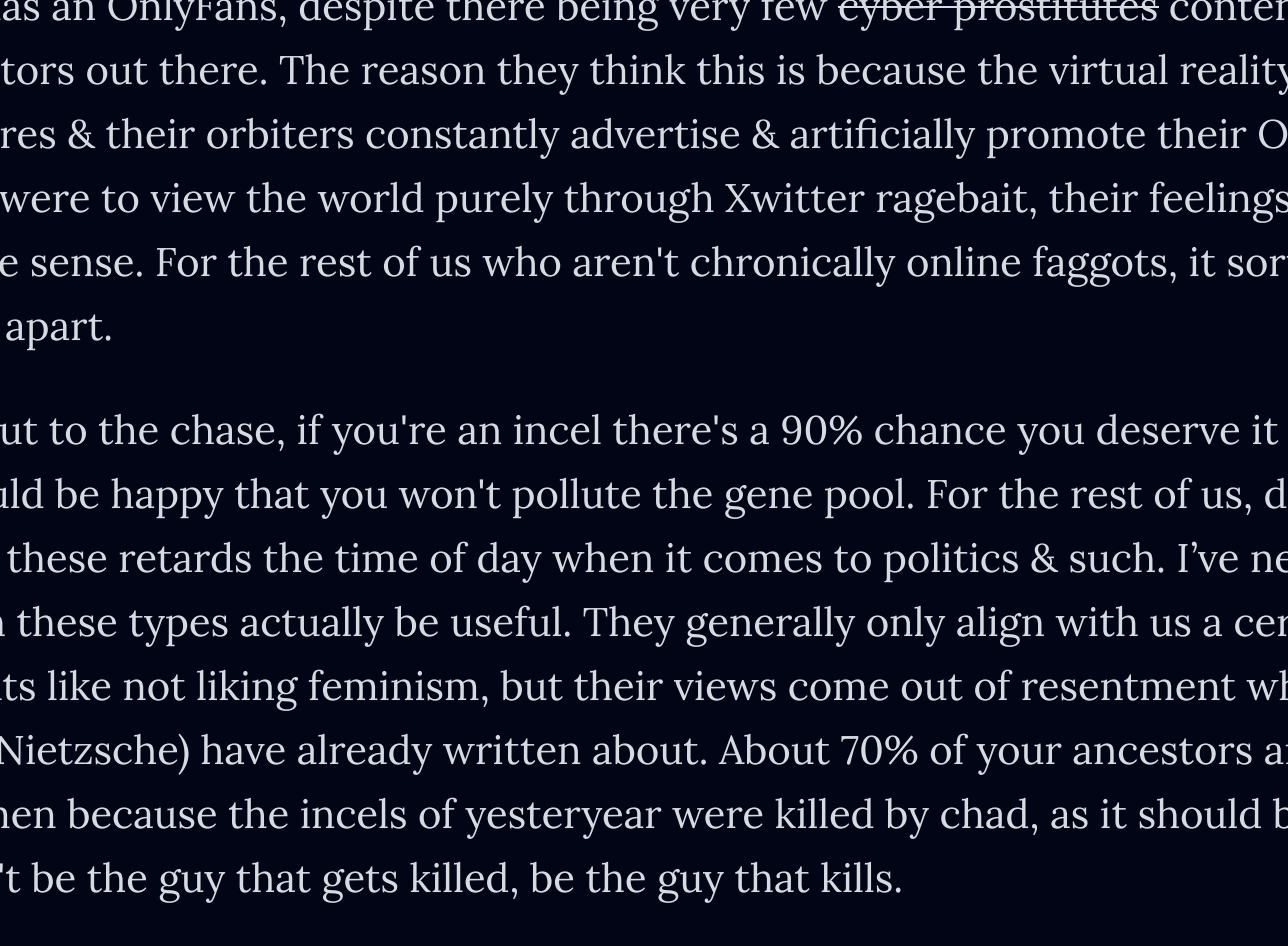

The incel crowd is a direct evolution of the "nice guy" crowd a few years prior. The only real difference was the sentiment turned from self loathing to resentment. Instead of being mad a "chad", they were mad at stacy. The vast majority of incels, like their nice guy predecessors, are comically unattractive. Fat, ugly, unhygienic, likely autistic, etc. This sentiment can still be found in many feature creatures & LatinX/Indians online.

Something that comes as a major shock to these people is that women are attracted to men who are attractive. Groundbreaking stuff, I know. Most of the things femoids actually select for (I say actually because a lot of stuff men are self conscious about are things women don't actually care about, more on this later) are things that have a pretty clear evolutionary purpose. Height, health (meaning physique), wealth, hygiene, etc. Even physical attractiveness can be evolutionarily explained if you buy into physiognomy, which you should.

I'm not quite sure where their anti-chad sentiment comes from, but I'd wager it's from movies where the quirky nerd character gets the hot girl instead of the stupid jock - because the films are usually made by ex-theater & band kids. Transformers (2007) is a good example of this in its first act, but it can be justified by Shia's character becoming pretty heroic throughout the film. Phenomenal movie btw.

I think movies like that gave weirdos an unrealistic view of women & love, by making them think that women will "love you for you" (whatever that's supposed to mean) instead of following their biological instincts. Whatever your idea of love is, it definitely has no bearing on the traits that initially attract someone. From a purely materialist point of view, it's likely a biological drive towards loyalty which is advantageous for reproduction.

The only real dysgenic trait females have when selecting a mate is intelligence, which someone else has said is probably because higher IQ people often have more trouble socializing. There's also this 4chan quote that's quite accurate:

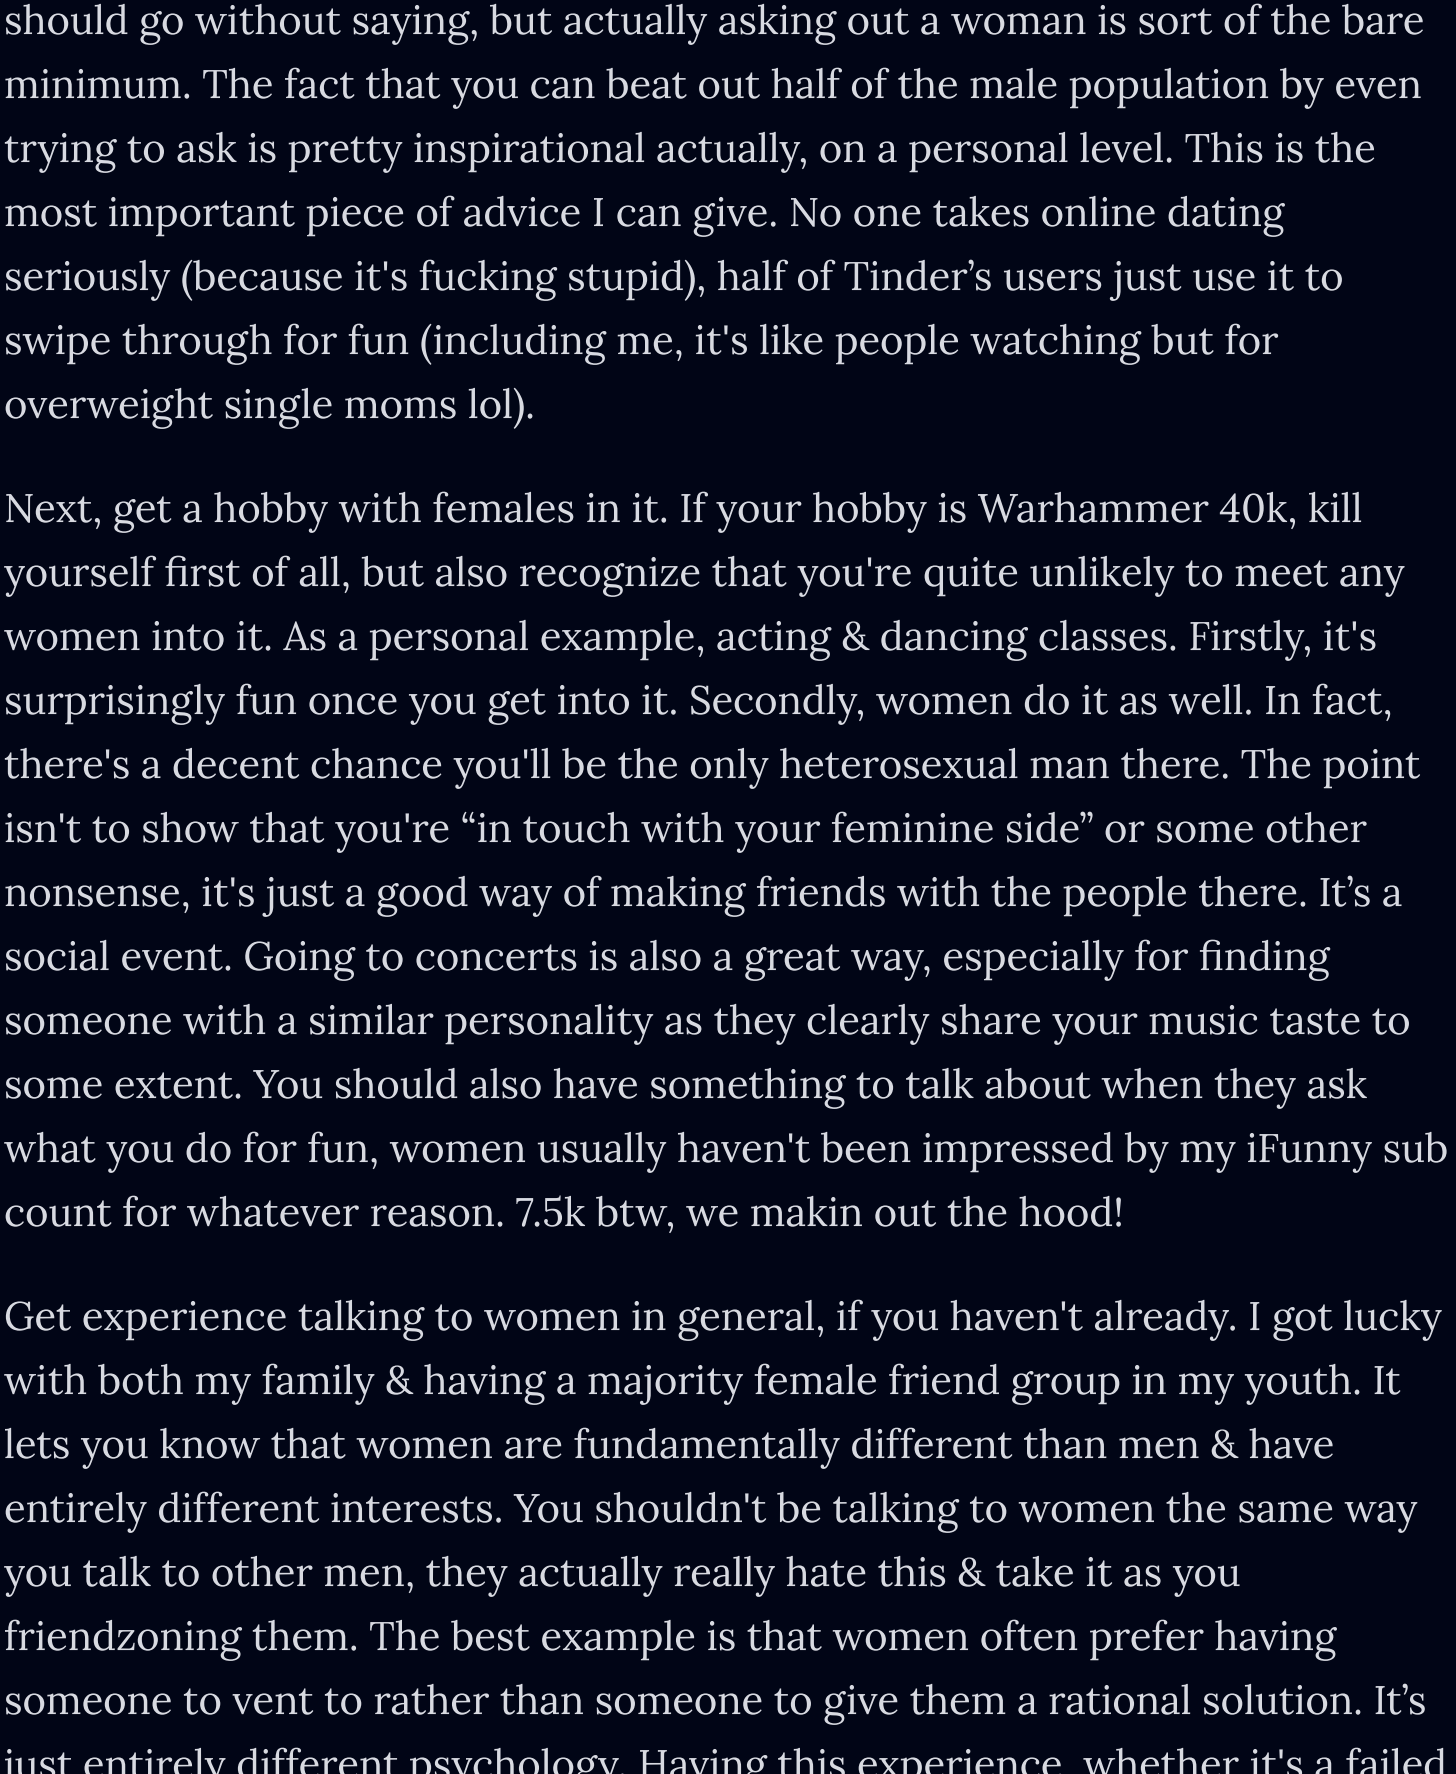

I think there's a pretty clear correlation between incels & trannies. The whole "If you can't get a gf, become the gf" pipeline. The bulk of trannies are failed men & porn addicts, so you can see how this mindset evolves. This reflects in the rate of sexual crimes from trannies, overwhelmingly against women. You can also tell when trannies have meltdowns about "cis" women for simply existing without looking/acting like a freak.

Incels are also terminally online, victims to what someone on here (forget who) referred to as 'internet poisoning'. They see random posts that become popular online (usually Tiktok & Xwitter) & think it represents the reality of every woman on Earth. A lot of them like to pretend that every woman under 30 has an OnlyFans, despite there being very few cyber-prostitutes content creators out there. The reason they think this is because the virtual reality whores & their orbiters constantly advertise & artificially promote their OF. If you were to view the world purely through Xwitter ragebait, their feelings make sense. For the rest of us who aren't chronically online faggots, it sort of falls apart.

To cut to the chase, if you're an incel there's a 90% chance you deserve it & should be happy that you won't pollute the gene pool. For the rest of us, don't give these retards the time of day when it comes to politics & such. I've never seen these types actually be useful. They generally only align with us a certain points like not liking feminism, but their views come out of resentment which I (& Nietzsche) have already written about. About 70% of your ancestors are women because the incels of yesteryear were killed by chad, as it should be. Don't be the guy that gets killed, be the guy that kills.

Side note, you guys remember the whole MGTOW thing from like 8 years ago. Never seen anyone deeper in the closet in my life lmao.

Now that we're done with that, how to get poon. If you're reading this publication, it's safe to assume that you've never seen a vagina. Regardless of how faggy the incels act, in truth there is a pretty big issue with dating nowadays. There's a few causes for this. The previously stated lack of opposite sex siblings, the internet being so ubiquitous, etc.

The biggest reason is the loss of community. People don't just sit inside all day because the internet exists, there's honestly just nowhere for younger people to hang out as a community. Malls & such ban teenagers, everything's expensive now, and many have too little time of work to maintain a proper hobby. There's also the problem of internet poisoning influencing people's expectations/views of the opposite sex in a negative way. You can also say that HR being annoying about flirting with coworkers, but this was never really a thing until recently when women joined the workforce en masse anyway.

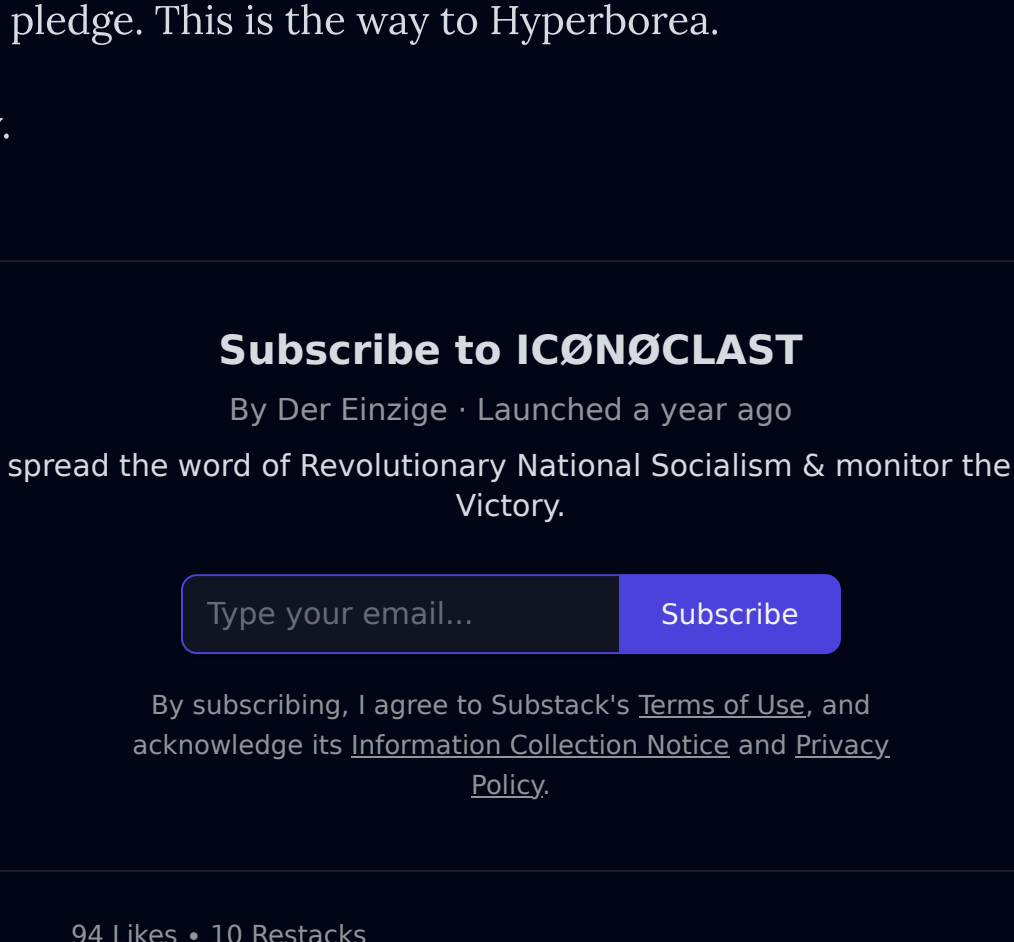

Regardless, my shitty advice. Firstly, don't be a part of the shocking ~50% of men who have NEVER approached a woman in person. I really feel like this should go without saying, but actually asking out a woman is sort of the bare minimum. The fact that you can beat out half of the male population by even trying to ask is pretty inspirational actually, on a personal level. This is the most important piece of advice I can give. No one takes online dating seriously (because it's fucking stupid), half of Tinder's users just use it to swipe through for fun (including me, it's like people watching but for overweight single moms lol).

Next, get a hobby with females in it. If your hobby is Warhammer 40k, kill yourself first of all, but also recognize that you're quite unlikely to meet any women into it. As a personal example, acting & dancing classes. Firstly, it's surprisingly fun once you get into it. Secondly, women do it as well. In fact, there's a decent chance you'll be the only heterosexual man there. The point isn't to show that you're "in touch with your feminine side" or some other nonsense, it's just a good way of making friends with the people there. It's a social event. Going to concerts is also a great way, especially for finding someone with a similar personality as they clearly share your music taste to some extent. You should also have something to talk about when they ask what you do for fun, women usually haven't been impressed by my iFunny sub count for whatever reason. 7.5k btw, we makin out the hood!

Get experience talking to women in general, if you haven't already. I got lucky with both my family & having a majority female friend group in my youth. It lets you know that women are fundamentally different than men & have entirely different interests. You shouldn't be talking to women the same way you talk to other men, they actually really hate this & take it as you friendzoning them. The best example is that women often prefer having someone to vent to rather than someone to give them a rational solution. It's just entirely different psychology. Having this experience, whether it's a failed romantic attempt or just with a friend, will help down the line.

This will also clue you into the fact that "I have a boyfriend/am lesbian" is usually a way of turning you down without hurting your feelings by making it seem like it wasn't your fault. This may be true, but it's more likely that she just isn't interested in being flirted with at that moment. It's just a nice way of rejection.

Next, women don't care about your insecurities as much as you do. Dick size, hairline, height, all the things men are self conscious about are rarely things women care about. Most of things that women consider attractive are things that are easily changed. There's this chart that gets posted every now and then:

Firstly, this is based on okcupid, a dating site worse than tinder, so take it with a grain of salt. Secondly, this pretty clearly shows that women are a lot less preoccupied with physical traits than one may expect. Women get attracted to men once they get to know them, not based off pictures of them like many men do. What this means is that most of your attractiveness is based on merit instead of purely genetics.

There's one caveat to the physical attractiveness thing, don't be fat. Both genders consider being fat the most unattractive thing someone can be. This includes both sexes judging each other & themselves. I don't have to be a gymrat, but you must at least be a healthy weight & not a lardass. If you're just actually ugly, don't pollute the gene pool.

Looksmaxxing is real btw. Prior to about 2020 it was referred to as basic hygiene & keeping up with your looks, but I digress. If you can't pull off long hair, get a haircut & follow the stylist's advice. Clean yourself up. Wear clothes that actually fit you. I really feel like this shouldn't have to be said, but whatever.

Finally, be aware that the chances that a girl you ask out is fairly low. She might be taken, not seeking a relationship, or just not into you. It may or may not reflect on you or your actions, it's just the nature of the beast. Don't treat being shot down by some random stranger as the end of the world lmao.

As with all things, the important thing is to have fun. If talking to a girl feels forced, it probably is. Flirting with or without romantic intent, is fun & should feel so. If it isn't, you're probably not compatible.

On a personal note, you shouldn't be looking for anything permanent until you're like 25 & set up. Have all your affairs in order then knock up a 19 year old sorority pledge. This is the way to Hyperborea.

Hail Victory.

Subscribe to ICNOCLAST
By Der Einziger · Launched a year ago
Newsletter to spread the word of Revolutionary National Socialism & monitor the Collapse. Hail Victory.

Discover more from ICNOCLAST
Newsletter to spread the word of Revolutionary National Socialism & monitor the Collapse. Hail Victory.

Enter your email...

Subscribe

By subscribing, I agree to Substack's Terms of Use, and acknowledge its Information Collection Notice and Privacy Policy.

Already have an account? Sign in